

Policy of quality and good manufacturing practice

The company SLAVÍK – Technické plasty s.r.o. realizes that steady high quality of one's own products and services can only reach with policy of quality and good manufacturing practice, which covers all activities of the company and all employees. Satisfies the needs of our customers and avoiding their expectations is a permanent part of everyday work and presenting the quality principles of our company. To topping these principles is accepted following policy of quality and good manufacturing practice.

1. The basic orientation of companies is to make the company a sought-after business partner and a supplier of plastic and rubber products, which will create a sense of security not only for the customer but also for the employees of the company.
2. The management of the company fully agrees with the requirements of the standards ČSN EN ISO 9000 and valid legislation, it is with the principles of effective deployment and continuous improvement of process control affecting the quality of production and good manufacturing practice in the company, including the fulfillment of the relevant requirements relating to the company's activities.
3. The management continuously creates the necessary organizational, personal and financial resources for implementation, evolution and improving the quality management system and good manufacturing practice.
4. Our permanent aim is to continually improve our business and ensuring the quality of our products and providing services.
5. Our subcontractors have a significant contribution to the production of our products, so we will develop with them constant active cooperation in clarifying mutual requirements and their realization.
6. To create appropriate conditions for the training of employees of the company in the production of plastic and rubber products.

In Hlučín, 8th January 2019

Oto Slavík

Director